The French Connection

Window shutters are taking Australia by storm. They provide extra insulation and provide important shading, sound protection and security. And they save energy!

In countries around the Mediterranean, with a similar climate as much of Australia, window shutters have been popular for a long time.

With Paarhammer 7 star windows and doors you now have the option of including different designs of shutters, all easily operated from the inside.

You may wish to recreate the flair of houses in France or just need extra protection from the elements. Shutters are not just decorative but provide external shading, especially important for west- and north facing windows.

Operable shutters include safe and easy to use hardware which guarantees faultless operation for years to come.

All movable parts are easy to reach and a special 3-layered coating on steel core makes the fittings corrosion free.

Paarhammer does not sell shutters by themselves but offers them as optional extra, mounted onto its energy saving windows and doors.

Australian Made

Especially in economic times like these, buying Australian made products is good for all of us. It creates jobs, boosts the economy and improves our standard of living.

Research by Roy Morgan shows that Australian consumers want to buy Australian and that more than two thirds consciously do so 'whenever possible' or 'often'.

Paarhammer windows and doors are manufactured locally in country Victoria near Ballarat.
